A MISER'S POT OF GOLD.

Peter Price Finds it, Counts the Money and Has $5,000 Clear Gain.

A few days since Peter Price, of Greensboro, and Joe Vaughn bartered on a piece of land at Madison, which they owned in co-partnership. Mr. Price proposed to Mr. Vaughn to buy or sell at Mr. Vaughn's figures. Mr. Vaughn set the price at $2,500 and Mr. Price made the purchase. A day or two later, while having an old cabin removed a rich find was made. An old half-gallon pot was found containing five thousand dollars in gold. The gold is supposed to have been stored there by an old man by the name of Black, who had led a miserly or recluse life.—Winston Journal.

THE PHILADELPHIA GAS STEAL.

To Go Unrestrained—Baron Gautsch to Form a New Cabinet—Antics of the Sugar Trust.

By Wire To THE TELEGRAM.

Cumberland, Md., Nov. 30—Robbers entered the home of Mrs. Cornelia Norris, of Alleghany county, on Saturday night and tortured the woman in an effort to make her tell where she kept her money. They killed her ten year old son in his bed and strapped the woman to a hot kitchen stove. Failing to find the money they burned the house and left. The charred bodies of the woman and her boy were discovered today. The woman had money but it was in the bank. It was generally supposed, however, that she kept it at home.

THE GAS LEASE.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Philadelphia, Nov. 30—The Court of Common Pleas today refused to interfere and enjoin the mayor and other city officials from the execution of the lease of the city gas works to the United Gas Improvement Company for a period of thirty years. For the thirty year franchise the company agreed to pay a rental of a million dollars and expend five million dollars in the improvement of the gas works. The price of gas to consumers was also to be reduced.

TO FORM A NEW CABINET.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

Vienna, Nov. 30—Baron Gautsch Von Frankenthurn, formerly minister of worship and public instruction, has been commissioned by Emperor Franz Joseph to form a new cabinet to succeed that of Bodeni which resigned on last Sunday. He has completed the list and submitted the names to the Emperor. The list contains the names of men well known in public affairs.

BLUFFING HIS HONOR.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Jersey City, Nov. 30—The sugar trust seeing that Mayor Haas would not grant the reduction in the water rate asked for, even at the risk of closing the trust's plant and throwing eleven hundred men ont of work, is operating its plant on full time today. The trust alleged that the shut-down last week was cause by the water rate, but it was found out later that it was for annual repairs. The trust was trying to bluff the Mayor.

Mammoth Locomative.

What is claimed by its builders to be the largest locomotive in the world passed here this morning, going to Alexandria, Va., to be used between that place and Monroe. It was built for the Southern Railway by the Baldwin Locomotive Works, of Philadelphia, and has been on exhibition at the Nashville Exposition. The smokestack had to be taken off to allow the machine to be carried through the tunnels. Its weight is said to be 117½ tons.

MARRIED ON HIS DEATHBED.

The Bridegroom Dies Five Hours After Ceremony was Performed.

Independence Kan., Nov. 29—A deathbed marriage was celebrated at Coffeyville yesterday. The parties were O. E. Shoemaker, a druggist of Coffeyville, and Miss Eva May Hawley of Wichita. The Rev. Mr. Freed of Coffeyville performed the ceremony.

Five hours after his marriage the groom died. When Shoemaker was a boy in Indiana his father married a second time, and he himself was soon afterward driven from home. Since then his father died, and the deathbed marriage was to keep his divorced wife and his step-mother from securing his property after he died.

THE WIZARD TIME-PIECE.

Who Can Explain the Mystery Of it.

Have you seen the wizard timekeeper on the show window of the Tom Rice Jewelry Company? Can you tell how it works? Is it dependent on the motion of the sun and moon or is it the long wished for perpetual motion? It is merely a clock face painted on the window a and large clock hand fastened to the glass. There is no machinery of any kind attached to it but still it moves around in unison with the hours marking correct time. J. M. Rosenblatt of the firm is the architect of the wonder and is justly proud of his handiwork. If you do not understand the mystery go in and ask him he will take pleasure in—refusing to tell.

DR. M. C. B. MASON.

Secretary of the Freedmen's Aid Society at St. Matthews Church.

Rev. M. C. B. Mason, D. D., of Cincinnati, preached at St. Mathews M. E. church Sunday and gave his famous lecture, "Some Providential Movements for the Evangelization of Africa," last night.

After the lecture the church and friends tendered a reception to Dr. Mason, at which they presented him $120 for his work in putting a steam plant in Bennett College.

This is a new departure and speaks well for our best colored people.

Parker Wins His Suit.

The suit of Chas. A. Parker against the Southern railroad, which was argued during the special term of last August court in which Parker recovered judgment for $800, has just been affirmed by the Supreme court and the opinion will be certified to the court beginning next Monday. Parker was ably represented in the trial of this action by Col. J. T. Morehead, John N. Wilson and D. Schenck Jr.

The point of law of the necessity of the Railroad company furnishing safe and adequate machinery for the use of its employees was forcibly brought out by D. Schenck, Jr. In fact Mr. Parker had the merits of the case fully presented by each of his able attorneys.

FEMUR MENDED WITH WIRE.

Holes Were Bored in the Bone—The Operation a Success.

New York, Nov. 29.—John Gordon, of 320 West Twelfth street, was taken to Bellevue Hospital on June 19 by Dr. R. H. Sayre with a fracture of the femur, near the hip. The patient was taken into Dr. Williams' ward, and on June 22 his thigh was opened, and the fractured bone was bound together with silver wire, which was passed through holes bored in the bone for the purpose.

The patient was put back to bed, and he improved steadily. The physicians were convinced that the operation was a success, but to make sure they took Gordon to Martin's X-ray studio at 110 East Twenty-sixth street yesterday and had a photograph of the left hip made. When the negative was developed it showed that the bone had knit together, forming a perfect union, and that the femur was to all appearances as strong as it had been before the fracture.

The case will be placed before the Academy of Medicine at its meeting this week.

WINDY TIME IN BELGIUM.

And the Dykes Have Been Broken By the Waves.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

Brussels, Nov. 30—The storm sweeping over northern Europe has done great damage on the Belgian coast. Several dykes have been breached, flooded houses have collapsed and a number of vessels have been driven ashore. The troops are employed at various points, assisting in the work of rescue.

Hawaiian Delegates Here.

San Francisco, Nov. 28.—The committee of native Hawaiians, that is going to Washington to protest against the annexation of the islands to the United States, has arrived here. It consists of two full-blooded and two half-blooded Hawaiians.

The leader of the delegation is James K. Kauila, president of the Hawaiian Patriotic League. The other members are David Kalu Kaliani, leader of the Second Hawaiian Society, which differs from the Patriotic League only in its opinion on local questions; Wm. Auld, who owns much property on the Island of Oahu, and John Richardson, a lawyer from the Island of Maui.

A LAKE STEAMER BURNING.

The Loss Will Be Three Hundred Thousand Dollars.

PART OF THE CREW LOST.

Thorn's Case Goes To The Jury This Afternoon--Inspecting the Woodside Cottage.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Escanaba, Mich. Nov. 30—The steamer Nahout caught fire last night and the blaze spread with terrible rapidity. Her decks are the largest in the world. Two of her decks have been burned and the others are threatened with destruction.

Two of the crew are known to have been lost and others injured.

The fire was still burning fiercely late this morning. The loss will amount to fully three hundred thousand dollars.

JURY TAKES THE CASE.

By Wire To THE TELEGRAM.

Long Island City, Nov. 30—Justice Maddox opened court promptly at 9:30 o'clock this morning to continue the Thorn case. No women were allowed in court today.

The court took a recess at 9:50 o'clock to allow the jury to inspect the Woodside cottage.

Thorn's case will be in the hands of the jury this afternoon. Before night Thorn's fate may be known. Thorn looks calm and placid today.

2:30 p. m. The jurors after spending eight minutes in inspecting the Woodside cottage returned to court at 11:30 this morning. Thorn looked very pale while attorney Howe was summing up for the defense.

It is positively announced that the case will be in the hands of the jury before adjournment tonight.

ON ITS LAST LEGS.

The War Lord Adjourns the Reichstag Today.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

Berlin, Nov. 30—The last session of the present Reichstag was opened at noon today by Emperor William in person for the first time since 1894. The ceremony took place in the White hall of the royal castle. His majesty read a speech from the throne. It touched upon the navy chiefly. He declared that there must be a big increase in the number of warships for service abroad; that German subjects must be protected. A bill will be submitted to this effect.

JUDGE DAY TO RESIGN.

Rumor in Canton That He Will Go on Supreme Bench.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 29.—There is a well-grounded rumor in Canton that Assistant Secretary Day will resign his present position in the State Department shortly after Congress assembles.

It has been stated in Washington dispatches that he will be the successor of Attorney General McKenna, but it is authoritatively stated here that he will not accept that portfolio.

The prevailing Canton opinion is that he will be appointed to the Supreme Bench at the earliest opportunity.

North Carolina Gems.

Col. Olds writes the Charlotte Observer that Secretary Ramsey, of the Agricultural Department, was interviewed today regarding the Stephenson collection of North Carolina gems purchased Saturday from the heirs of the late J. A. D. Stephenson, of Statesville. The collection arrived today, and with collection of Indian relics, fills ten boxes. All was secured for $450—a rare bargain for the State. It is of interest to know that among the specimens is the first Hiddenite ever discovered. Mr. Stephenson was the finder and it came from Alexander county, that treasure-place of gems. Some of the gems will be placed in the "rolling exposition" car which is now being loaded.

Facts Worth Studying.

If the Southern Stock-Mutual pays no larger dividends than the 20 per cent. now paid, and the business increases during the next seven years in the same ratio it has increased during the last three years, the actual saving for the ten years to policy-holders in North and South Carolina will be $194,822.00, and to the policy-holders in Greensboro alone, $26,237.00. Besides this the Company's assets (reinsurance reserve and surplus) represented by still larger figures will be kept at home and invested in the state. What better investment can the public make than by upholding an institution like this?

IT MAY BE SO.

Our dispatches told yesterday of the organization of a gigantic trust to control the money market of New York City and through it the whole country. The report may be true or it may be a canard; we published it for what it was worth. It was at any rate suggestive.

One thing suggested by the report is the feasibility of such a scheme. There is no reason why it should not be carried out if, say, a half dozen men were to combine the capital and influence at their command. A little reflection will reveal the fact that within recent years large combinations of capital have attempted few things in which they failed. Despite legislation aimed directly at them by the different States they have gone serenely on their ways disregarding statutes and laughing at courts and attorney generals.

As a matter of fact such a combination as this reported trust is not only a possible but a strictly logical sequitur from present tendencies. No one denies that the Standard Oil Company controls the market of that product. No one denies that Havemeyer controls sugar. Mr. Cleveland confessed the United States in a position where is was compelled to dicker privately with Pierpot Morgan for the gold with which to save its credit. Why then, as a common sense proposition, should not these men who can do so much do enough more to practically become masters of the country?

As "free born American citizens" we are inclined to pooh pooh such a proposition as an impossibility but a little quiet investigation will shake such robust confidence. We are apt to forget that people can be ruled more easily and just as effectually by influence as by force. The Czar of Russia really takes a very dangerous and expensive method of being autocrat.

As we have before pointed out the hairbrained and rabid "reformers" in this country have, by wholesale denunciation of everything that does business in a two story building as a trust and by charging to their machinations all sorts of impossible evils, disgusted the more sane and conservative element of our people. And therein lies the real danger. It is not a matter calling for a larger supply of wind but for more careful consideration. There lies in this old and yet new secret of power through co-operation a real menace to the country—the only real menace indeed that can be conjectured at present; very much more grave than the supposed menace of lawlessness.

It does not follow that because many things are called trusts that are not such that there are no trusts at all. It does not follow that because demagogues charge them with impossible evils that there are not possible evils in them. As usual there are two opposite ends to the controversy which may be safely termed extremes. And there is a deplorable tendency of people to congregate at the one end or the other.

The Dingley revenue bill continues to chase government expenditures, keeping, by nip and tuck, within six million a month of them.

The Hon. Tom Watson, of Georgia, is frantically calling on Mr. Marion Butler to tell "what he has done with the populist party." There is certainly one thing he did not do with it, viz.: vote it for the Hon. Thomas. There is one thing he will never do with it again, viz.: put it in his pocket. There is a respectable element in it.

Mr. McKinley is now reported to have an opinion as to the settlement of the financial question. Admirers of Mr. McKinley will be pleased to hear that he has another opinion on any subject to keep company with that lonely one on the tariff that has inhabited his cranium for so long.

While the Charlotte Observer is elucidating the mysteries of the Initiative and Referendum and the Imperative Mandate it would not be amiss for it to devote one little paragraph to blowing the smoke off Cuban autonomy.

The Austrian premier having been thoroughly beaten in the legislative chamber and thoroughly kicked by the Emperor has concluded that politics is too warm for his temperament and resigned.

It is only natural to suppose that the new battle ship Kentucky, that is soon to be christened, will not suffer the indignity of being besprinkled with anything save the choicest Bourbon.

A hundred hungry men are said to have started from Dawson for the coast and it is to be presumed that their appetites will at least not be impaired by the time their journey is finished.

Senator Hanna is confined to his home with an attack of the grip. There are some things that even Mr. Hanna can't get the underhold of it.

"Nigger" in The Well.

Clayton, N. C., Nov. 29—A special to the News and Observer says: Our little town was stirred up today about 2 o'clock by a negro falling in a well in the rear of Mr. I. W. Dodd's stables. Mr. Dodd said he told the negro to draw some water to water the stock in the stable, when the next thing he heard was a big scramble and a loud call for help. "I am in de well," Ropes were brought and he was brought out with a badly cut head and very wet clothes.

What It Means.

When we advertise that we will guarantee Dr. King's New Discovery, Electric Bitters, Bucklen's Arnica Salve, or Dr. King's New Life Pills, it means that we are authorized by the proprietors to sell these remedies on a positive guarantee, that if purchaser is not satisfied with results, we will refund the purchase price. These medicines have been sold on this guarantee for many years and there sould be no more conclusive evidence of their great merit. Ask about them ahd give them a trial. Sold at C. E. Holton's drug store.

This is to Certify that a few years since, while living in a malarial district, I suffered dreadfully with chills, which it seemed impossible to break. A friend urged me to try Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy. I did so, and by the use of a few bottles they were entirely broken broken, and I have not been troubled with them since. I also found it an excellent nervine.

LAURA KERR, Executrix of J. W. Kerr, deceased.

Old Settlers' Yarns.

They were two old pioneers of upper Michigan entertaining the gullible resorters.

"When I first came to this region," said the veteran who owns a log cabin, a flatboat and a turnip patch, "we had a good deal of trouble with bears. They'd come sniffin round the shanty at night, and you could go out any mornin and lay in a stock of bear beef. 'Bout the best luck I ever had was one fall when I was pokin about just beyant the clearin. I was shovin a bullet home with an iron ramrod when I see a she bear and three cubs comin toward me. They see me at the same time, and all went up in a row on their hind legs. Of course I was naturally excited and banged away. When the smoke cleared there was them four bears strung on that ramrod, and there wasn't a good kick left in none of 'em."

The other entertainer looked troubled for a few seconds, but soon rallied and looked as honest as an owl.

"Hank," he began, "you mus' recaleck that red cow of mine. There was the beatinest critter I ever see. She could ketch more fish than airy a man in the settlement. She wasn't no expense 'cause she could steal a livin the year round. She could pick a lock with her horns, and ole Jim Clayter swears he see her climb a tree after a black bear once. I won't make no affidavy to that, but I know she used to bring in bear reg'ler. She could do more with them horns of hern than any man could with a rifle. Wasn't she a corker, Hank?"

"I hain't spinnin this here yarn, Lige," declared the other pioneer, who was plainly jealous, "but the only cow you ever owned since you come up here was a mooley."

Though they are both old they are as tough as pine knots, and it took five minutes to part them. The friendship of years is broken and each declares the other the prince of liars.—Detroit Free Press.

Altitude and Phthisis.

I have spent considerable time in traveling in the Catskills, Adirondacks and the Rocky mountains, investigating with some care these localities, with their varying altitudes above sea level and their influence upon the lungs, and, while perhaps a high and dry and lighter air may be beneficial in some diseases and for its influence upon the general health, I do not believe that it has the slightest effect upon the growth an proliferation of the tubercle bacillus itself. In this opinion I am heartily confirmed by the judgment of many able and careful practitioners with whom I have most earnestly conversed, and I repeat that altitude has no influence whatever in destroying the tubercle bacillus.

A considerable experience with this disease has led me to believe that no place is better for its treatment than New York city. Patients have come to me from every state in the Union, from Canada, from the Sandwich Islands and from Europe, and it appears to be the general belief among them all that the climate of New York city, with its clear air and bright sunshine, is quite as favorable under all circumstances as is that of most other localities. I have under my care at this time patients from several towns in Colorado, from New Mexico and California, and all are doing better in this city than in their own localities.—Dr. Hubbard Winslow Mitchell in New York Medical Record.

Leprosy.

Leprosy is an exclusively human disease. It is not inoculable to animals. It is never of spontaneous origin, but is invariably derived from the lesions or secretions of a person similarly diseased. Its development in a country previously exempt from the disease may always be traced to its importation in the person of a leper from an infected center. We know nothing definitely of the mode of infection or the channels of entrance through which the bacillus gains access to the organism—whether by direct contact, by inhalation or imbibition of the germs or by other intermediaries. Observation proves conclusively that every leper is a possible source of danger to all with whom he may come into intimate and prolonged contact.—Dr. Prince A. Morrow in North American Review.

He Favored the Idea.

"My dear," he said as he laid down the paper, "you ought to read that address by Mrs. Mouser, the eminent lecturer, on woman's work. She says that whenever a wife gets angry she should stop and carefully consider the matter for ten minutes before saying a word to her husband. That's a grand idea."

"It is, eh?"

"I consider it so."

"And where will you be when I begin talking?"

"Oh, I don't know—somewhere down town, I presume, but don't let that interfere with you at all."

And she was so mad that she didn't say a word for the full time limit.—Chicago Times-Herald.

Bearded Belles of Ancient Rome.

Among the Roman women at one period there was a morbid ambition to grow beards, and they used to shave their faces and smear them with unguents to produce these inappropriate appendages. Cicero tells us that at one time to such an extent did the mania for beards grow upon women that it was found desirable to pass a law against the "adornment."—San Francisco Chronicle.

Sustaining Pride.

There is nothing so sustaining in passing through an ordeal as proper pride. An Atchison woman who was struck on the head by a beer bottle in her husband's hands claims that it was a champagne bottle.—Atchison (Kan.) Globe.

Sending Bedclothes by Mail.

An old negro bearing a huge bundle of bedclothes which were somewhat the worse for wear and none too immaculate in character rapped at one of the little windows up at the postoffice. The clerk who appeared in answer to the summons was thus greeted by the aforesaid darky:

"Boss, I'ze got tu send dis here bundle o' bedclo'es to my old 'oman down in Mis'sippi. Is dis here de place whah I'ze got ter start it off?"

"Oh, you want to send the package by mail, do you?" asked the clerk, without cracking a smile.

"Sartain, fer sho', boss. How much is I got ter pay?" inquired the darky.

The clerk could not resist the temptation to play a joke upon a fellow clerk, so he said:

"Well, uncle, this isn't the place for you to leave your bundle, but if you will just take it down to that window below here"—indicating the general delivery department—"and hand it in to the clerk down there, he will put the right number of stamps on it and send it off for you."

"Thanke'ee, boss; thank'ee. I sho' is obleeged ter you," said the unsuspecting Senegambian.

He at once made his way to the department indicated. Arriving there, he thrust his huge bundle into the window, into which it fitted closely, at the same time telling the astonished presiding genius of that department please to put stamps on it and sent it to "my old 'oman, Sallie Sanders, down in Water Valley."

It is said that a coolness now exists between these erstwhile friendly clerks in the Memphis postoffice.—Memphis Scimitar.

Antetobacco Smoking.

There is ample authority for the statement that before the introduction of tobacco it was customary to inhale the smoke of burned herbs for medicinal purposes. There is, however, so far as I know, no authority for supposing that pipes at all resembling our tobacco pipes were used for this purpose. Lyte says of coltsfoot:

"The perfume of the dried leaves ledde upon quicke coles, taken into the mouth through the pipe of a funnell, or tunnell, helpeth such as are troubled with the shortnesse of winde, and fetche their breath thicke or often, and do (sio) breake without daunger the impostems of the breast."

This is the usual form of the directions given in such cases, and Gerard follows it almost word for word, adding, however:

"Being taken in manner as they take tobaco, it (coltsfoot) mightily prevaileth against the disease aforesaid."

This is pretty good evidence that tobacco pipes were not in use in Lyte's time, but had been introduced in Gerard's. In Sylvester's "Tobacco Battered and Their Pipes Shattered" tobacco pipes are spoken of as a new invention:

Two smoakie Engines, in this latter Age
(Satan's short Circuit, the more sharp his rage)
Have been invented by too-wanted Wit,
Or rather, vented from th' Infernall Pit,
Guns and Tobacco-pipes, with Fire and Smoak,
(At least) a Third part of Mankind to choak.

He considers the later invention the more devilish of the two.—Notes and Queries.

A Rainfall of Seeds.

Some days ago the province of Macerata, in Italy, was the scene of an extraordinary phenomenon. Half an hour before sunset an immense number of small blood colored clouds covered the sky. About an hour later a cyclone storm burst, and immediately the air became filled with myriads of small seeds. The seeds fell over town and country, covering the ground to a depth of about half an inch. The next day the whole of the scientists of Macerata were abroad in order to find some explanation.

Professor Cardinali, a celebrated Italian naturalist, stated that the seeds were of the genus cercis, commonly called Judas tree, and that they belonged to an order of leguminosse found only in central Africa or the Antilles. It was found, upon examination, that a great number of the seeds were actually in the first stage of germination.—Golden Penny.

Potatoes In the Pulpit.

A clergyman who enjoyed the substantial benefits of a fine farm was slightly taken down on one occasion by his Irish plowman, who was sitting on his plow in the wheatfield. The reverend gentleman, being an economist, said, with great seriousness:

"John, wouldn't it be a good plan for you to have a pair of pruning shears here and be cutting a few bushes along the fence while the horses are resting a short time?"

John, with quite as serious a countenance as the divine himself, said:

"Look here, wouldn't it be well, sir, for you to have a tub of potatoes in the pulpit, and while they were singing to peel 'em awhile to be ready for the pot?"

The reverend gentleman laughed heartily and left.—Pearson's Weekly.

Its Great Charm.

"Yes, we went all over Europe, but papa really only enjoyed himself in Venice."

"Ah, yes, no wonder. The gondolas, St. Mark's, the Rialto, the"—

"Oh, it wasn't that. But he could sit in the hotel, you know, and fish out of the window."—London Fun.

The Style In Chicago.

"Why is Mrs. Mulford in half mourning?"

"Her first husband is dead."—Cleveland Leader.

The word costermonger was originally costardmonger—that is, apple seller. His noisy manners were commented upon in Queen Elizabeth's day. There are now over 30,000 costers in London.

A Japanese saying runs: A woman's tongue is only six inches long, but it can kill a man six feet high.

Costly Pipes.

Among the pipes shown at a jewelry establishment was one of meerschaum, with an amber mouthpiece, the bowl being crowned with a gold mounting that covered the rim around the top and extended down the sides to the depth of perhaps a quarter of an inch below the edge. On top the mounting was flat and smooth; below the edge, on the sides, it was etched. The price of this pipe was $110. The owner of a pipe with a gold rim around the top might smoke it, or it might be that he would let it lie on his table.

Jeweled pipes are not an article of common sale, but they are not so uncommon as to be remarkable. Such pipes are usually mounted to order, and they are probably always bought for gifts. They are variously mounted, sometimes with a band of diamonds and rubies around the bowl at the top, sometimes diamonds are set around the stem where the mouthpiece joins it. A jeweled pipe may cost $250.

Silver mounted meerschaum pipes at $50 are articles of regular sale. There are pipes of this sort at prices ranging from $20 to $75. These are not carved pipes, but usually perfectly plain. They are of the finest materials and workmanship and of fine designs.

There are perfectly simple little brier pipes with a plain silver mounting and amber mouthpiece that sell at $15, but the brier is the very choicest and handsomest, the amber mouthpiece of the finest quality and joined to the pipe by a lock stem, and all the workmanship on the pipe is of the best. They are the very finest of brier pipes.—New York Sun.

An Absentminded Man.

"Writers for comic papers and their unthinking readers," said Mr Werkenday, "consider it funny to be an absentminded man. I am absentminded and in a position to contradict them. This morning I was hurrying across Wall street to keep an appointment. I lit a cigar without checking my pace, for I was late, and the appointment meant much for me.

"A few minutes afterward I happened to put my hand in my pocket and missed my new silver matchsafe. Of course I retraced my steps in a hurry, scanning every inch of sidewalk and gutter anxiously. So occupied, naturally I collided more or less severely with people, who, not having lost a silver matchsafe, might have kept out of my way, I think.

"However, they did not, and by the time I reached William street my hat had been knocked off, the polish of my shoes had been ruined by strange feet, and one of my new gloves had disappeared.

"At William street a very fat man ran into me, or rather over me. The shock staggered me, and something fell out of my hand and clattered on the pavement. It was my new silver matchsafe. I picked it up with unkind reflections about myself, and a little mental arithmetic showed me that I had made an absentminded fool of myself at a cost of 5 cents for a shine, $1 to get my hat blocked and $2.25 for a pair of gloves, ruined by the loss of one. And then, gentlemen, I walked serenely to my office, and it never struck me until two hours afterward that I had quite forgotten to keep that highly important appointment.—New York Press.

Cabinet of Curiosities.

The Professional Woman's league is proud of a cabinet of curiosities which stands in the drawing room and is, it hopes, the nucleus of a rare collection. There are the dagger used by the late E. L. Davenport in "Othello," a scarf of white satin embroidered in gold and a jeweled Maltese cross belonging to Fanny Kemble; a medallion of carved coral once the property of Adah Isaacs Menken, autographed slippers of Patti and Melba and boots worn by Mrs. D. P. Bowers. There are also jeweled gloves worn by Miss May Brookyn. The caricature sketches, pen and ink, made by the late Sol Smith are most interesting. A yellow satin gown is there which was worn by Mrs. W. G. Jones at the New Bowery theater in 1864, and which originally belonged to Mrs. Farren, and a spangled dress which Miss Louisa Mortimer (Mrs. Louisa Eldridge) wore at the age of 18. Mme. Ponisi's slippers in which she trod the boards in the character of Romeo in 1855 are exhibited. An old fashioned decanter used by the late William Warren, a jeweled necklace worn by the late John R. Scott and old engravings of Jenny Lind and David Garrick are numbered among the relics.—New York Tribune.

G. H. Jennings, of the firm of Bloxton & Jennings, the Southside furniture men, returned last night from Reidsville where he spent Sunday and Monday.

Col. J. R. Webster and wife, of Reidsville, were in the city this morning and went to Raleigh where Col. Webster will attend the meeting of the State democratic executive committee.

John Schenck, the valorous quarterback of the Charlotte eleven, came up yesterday. John sorter dodged around corners and through alleys until he found out his life was safe and he was, like the politician, "in the hands of his friends."

Miss Mary Wyche, a trained nurse, sister of Dr. Wyche, has accepted the supervision of the infirmary at the Normal College. For the past three years Miss Wyche has been the head nurse of the Rex Hospital in Raleigh and is, of course, highly efficient.

OYSTERS GROWING ON TREES.

Mr. Kemp Pulls a Branch Out of the Water with Oysters on It.

Ottawa, Nov. 29.—Ernest Kemp, oyster expert of the Marine and Fisheries Department for the Dominion, has returned to the capital. He has lately been inspecting the oyster beds of the Bras d'Or lakes in Cape Breton, northern Nova Scotia. In alluding to this latter field or operations he reports upon the peculiarity to be found among the oyster beds of that region, of oysters growing upon the trees bordering on the lakes. He says: "It is one of the few places in the world, I believe, where the spat of the oyster is found deposited on seaweed and on the branches of trees that extend down or have fallen into the brackish waters of the bays. Not long ago, at River Dennis, I surprised and convinced a skeptic on that score by pulling up a tree branch with several fine fat oysters growing upon it."

The Corpse Weighed 600 Pounds.

San Francisco, Nov. 29—Mrs. Theresa Cardoza, a well-known resident of this city, who died on Saturday, was buried yesterday in the Italian cemetery. She weighed over 600 pounds and the undertaker had to break down the stairs of her late residence in order to lower the body into the hall. A special casket, bound with iron, was constructed for the remains. As it was too heavy for any hearse in the city, it was taken to the cemetery in a heavy express wagon, Mrs. Cardoza had been married twice and leaves five children, the youngest being 14 months old.

Judge Douglas returned to Raleigh this morning. He says the case of Caldwell vs. Wilson for the place on the railroad commission comes before the supreme court next Saturday.

There is a demand for large, well constructed, convenient wholesale and retail business houses. We have heard this matter spoken of by more than one responsible concern in town.

A POINTER OR SO.

Somethings that People on the Move Should Know.

Health, railroad and school advantages are among the most desirable things that a town can possess. Greensboro has all of these. The sixth biennial report of the State Board of Health of '95 and '96 shows that the white death rate is smaller in Greensboro to the thousand than in any other town in North Carolina of over five thousand people. It is an admitted fact that Greensboro is the natural railroad center of the State. It is within eight to ten hours of Washington, Atlanta, Norfolk, Knoxville, Wilmington, Roanoke and Richmond, As for intermediate points the train service is the best in the State.

The schools of Greensboro have always been her pride. The Normal and Industrial College, the Greensboro Female College, and the excellent city schools for the white, and the A. & M. and Bennett Colleges for the colored, run the school attendance to 2,000 or more. In the county we have Guilford College, Oak Ridge and Whitsett.

With these facts of health, transportation and education, we may hope without discredit that we will have the town of the State.

A New Pastor.

The M. P. conference just closed at High Point sent Rev. T. M. Johnson, of Henderson, as pastor to Grace church this city to succeed Rev. J. F. McCulloch, who so ably and acceptably filled this appointment for the past year. Rev. Mr. McCulloch will continue as editor of The Church Record, giving it his entire time. Mr. Johnson is said to be one of the ablest men in the conference and we congratulate the members of Grace church on the fact that they are to continue to hear good preaching. Welcome, Mr. Johnson, to the city of flowers.

A Day's Work.

The Simson-Shields Shoe company are being hustled these days. Today, for example, the street and sidewalk is filled with boxes before their store. They shipped $1800 worth of goods, which is not bad for one day's work. These goods to go North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia and Tennessee. Who says Greensboro is not a good wholesaling point?
